Join us
for a two day workshop exploring walking with theory. What does walking do to the walker, and to the various sociomaterialities (people, places, objects, natures, etc.) they interact with?

Drawing on decolonial, psychogeographic and new materialist theory we ask: How do theorisations of 'walking,' and its relationalities with place, materiality, mobility, and related concepts, matter for how walking pedagogies are undertaken?
